Workshop Presented by
Kathy Morris

Come join a fun filled session with visual cues and templates to create, make and take with you for your student or child who needs extra visual supports (such as kids with ADHD, autism, and behavior challenges). Kathy Morris will share her toolbox and creative ideas and The Arc will supply card stock, laminate, velcro, glue guns, etc. to bring your ideas home! Power cards, checklists, positive behavior checklists, social stories and more designed for your child's/ student's individual needs!

About the Presenter

Kathy Kaluza Morris is a national/international speaker and consultant who has supported teachers, parents, and districts in all 50 states, Canada, Mexico, and Singapore. She has been an experienced educator for 43 years as a speech therapist, teacher of students with emotional/behavior disorders, teacher of students with autism spectrum disorders, as well as cerebral palsy and other developmental disorders. As a former diagnostician/supervisor and service center consultant, she often wondered how parents of children with disabilities survived the stress. She and her husband, Guy Morris, "walk the walk and talk the talk" since the birth of their twin sons with ASD and other developmental disabilities.
