

Erica M. Duckworth, M.Ed., L.P.C.

Erica Duckworth began her career working with children with special needs in 1996 as an In Home Trainer and has remained in the field in multiple capacities since. These roles include teacher in an Intensive Intervention classroom, General Education Counselor, In Home and Parent Training Assessor, and Parent Trainer. In these various positions she learned to utilize a variety of visual and social supports for students with a wide range of needs, offer inclusion opportunities, facilitate communication and provide multiple community learning opportunities. In private practice, Erica provides counseling services including family trainings, social skills groups and individual sessions providing social emotional learning opportunities. She is also currently employed as the Special Education Counselor and Behavior Interventionist for the Big Thicket Cooperative counseling individuals with special needs, establishing behavior intervention programs for students and providing educator and parent training opportunities.
